

Mark Your Calendars! The BOSS is coming in Fall 2017 and is going to revolutionize faculty collaboration and professional development across the WTCS! Starting in 2017, the listed business programs will be having their very own WTCS conference—for faculty, by faculty!

What: BOSS {Business Occupations System Symposium}

Where: Chula Vista, Wisconsin Dells

When: November 2 & 3, 2017

Who: Program faculty for Finance/Accounting, Supervisory Management, Business Management, Administrative Professional, Human Resources, Marketing, Business Analyst, Real Estate, and Entrepreneurship

**Separate System-Called Meetings will not be scheduled for the programs throughout 2017; a portion of this conference provides program specific meeting times.****

What do you need to do now?

It's a little too early to pack your bags but you can start thinking about potential presentation ideas that focus on the following three things: Teaching Excellence (Training needed for instructional excellence), Student Success (Training needed in the application of advisement, learning styles, interpersonal skills in teaching, etc.) and Currency/Occupational Competency (Training needed to maintain currency in the area of expertise/occupation). We are working with our Faculty Quality Assurance Staff to incorporate professional development throughout the conference.
